

Speech Pathology Student Clinic: For Adults with Communication Difficulties

Appointments are available in our student speech pathology clinic at the WA Centre for Rural Health for adults with communication difficulties and concerns.

Those attending our clinic will be seen by final year speech pathology students, supervised by Certified Practicing Speech Pathologists.

We can offer assessment and treatment for a range of communication difficulties including:

- Unclear speech and difficulty with speech sounds
- Producing a clear voice (eg hoarse, too quiet, strained)
- Understanding what others say
- Finding words or putting sentences together
- Stuttering

Who can attend:

Anyone can refer to this clinic and no referral is required. This student service is available to those who are not able to access other speech pathology services or programs. There is no cost.

All staff and students at WACRH clinics are fully vaccinated.
Please bring your own mask to all appointments.
